NEW ORLEANS BAPTIST THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

The Perry R. Sanders Center for Ministry Excellence

The Doctor of Ministry and the Doctor of Educational Ministry degrees at NOBTS are flexible, practical, and transformational.

FLEXIBLE

SCHEDULE – Seminars are offered year-round in our unique Trimester Schedule. This schedule allows 3 different entry points annually, Spring, Fall, and Winter. Seminars are usually only 2-4 days in length which minimizes time away from ministry settings.

LOCATIONS – The New Orleans experience extends from the Atlantic Southeast to Oklahoma. Seminars may originate from several sites and are offered on a variable schedule via Compressed Interactive Video in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, Oklahoma, and of course, Louisiana.

SEMINAR CHOICES – You choose many of the seminars you want to take. Some specializations may require specific seminars, but students have great latitude in selecting the seminars that are most important and relevant to them and their ministry settings. Special Event Seminars and Directed Studies add another level of accommodation.

SPECIALIZATIONS – A wide variety of specializations are available in both of the Professional Doctoral degrees. Students choose the specialization that best prepares them for professional improvement and ministry effectiveness.

PRACTICAL

SEMINAR TOPICS – Every seminar is designed with a ministry orientation. Courses reflect a keen understanding of the needs of the church and other Christian ministries.

PROJECT FOCUS – Each student is challenged in every class to generate strategies and projects relevant to their personal ministry setting.

APPLICATION ORIENTATION – Our faculty guides students to study subjects significant to contemporary ministry and apply the ideas and principles in a local ministry context.

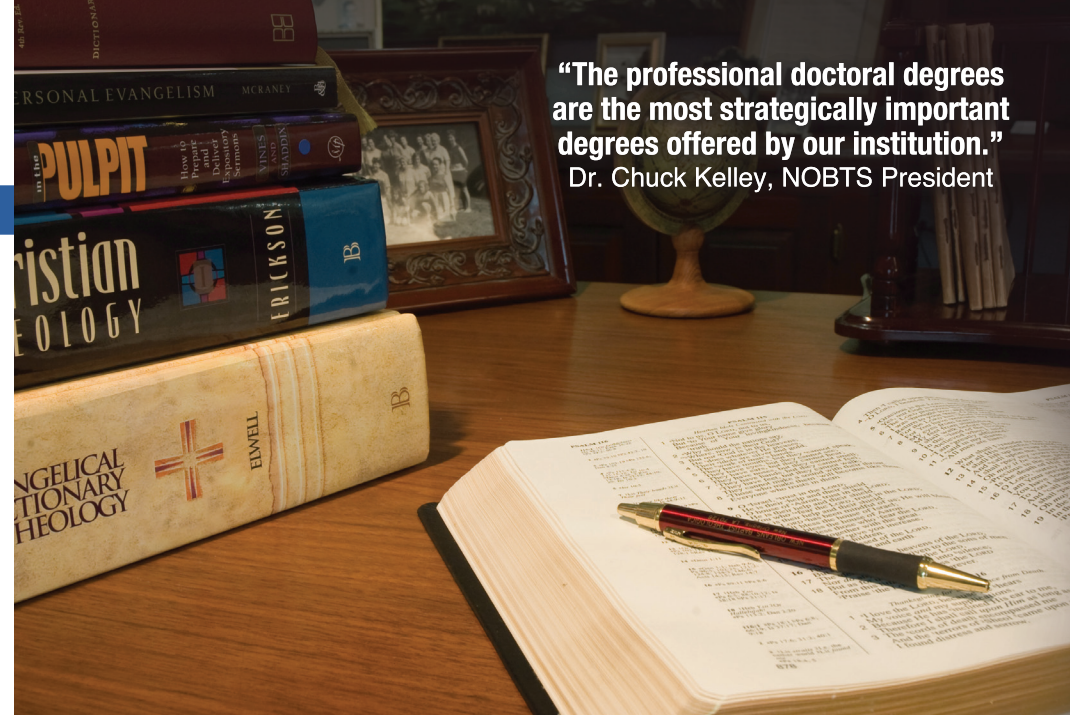

TRANSFORMATIONAL

PERSONAL – The exposure to new ideas and a wider variety of life experiences allow students to grow personally. Many students report spiritual and intellectual renewal as part of the professional doctoral education.

PROFESSIONAL – Mentoring from ministry practitioners, inspiration from national leaders, and interaction with fellow students create an atmosphere that promotes growth as leaders and educators.

CONGREGATIONAL – Principles, processes, and projects that emerge from the educational experiences will influence your church as you apply them. Churches and ministries have seen spiritual renewal and numerical growth as a result of implementation in the local setting.

“The professional doctoral degrees are the most strategically important degrees offered by our institution.”
Dr. Chuck Kelley, NOBTS President
