German classes are offered by the Providence Learning Center for the purpose of preparing students to meet the language requirements necessary for entry to NOBTS Research Doctoral Programs. Students must pass the German proficiency exam given at the end of the class in order to meet the requirements of the NOBTS Research Doctoral Programs office. For more information on NOBTS doctoral admission requirements, please contact the Research Doctoral Programs office at PhD@nobts.edu or (504) 282-4455, ext. 8010.

*Please note: These classes are not for academic credit. This is not an NOBTS for-credit course. The student will not receive academic credit on a transcript and there is no credit earned in this class that can be transferred to any other institution. Students who successfully complete the course will receive a Certificate of Completion from the Providence Learning Center upon request.

Procedure for Taking the German Class

If you would like to take the German class, please plan to attend the first class session on Monday, June 11, 2018 at 9:00 am. At this meeting, you will complete a registration form for the class. After completing the first week of class, your student account will be charged $500 for the first half of the class. Likewise, after the first week of part two of the class, your student account will be charged another $500 to cover the second half of the class.

If you have any questions or need further information, please contact Blanca Phillips in the Providence Learning Center at plc@nobts.edu or 504-816-8441.
