Seminary Mission Statement, Core Values, and Core Competencies Addressed

The mission of NOBTS is to equip leaders to fulfill the Great Commission and the Great Commandments through the local church and its ministries.

The main core values addressed in this seminar are Doctrinal Integrity and Characteristic Excellence.

The primary core competencies addressed in the seminar are Christian Theological Heritage and Biblical Exposition.

Course Description

An intensive study of the doctrine of God is made through an analysis of the biblical data in the light of historical and contemporary interpretations. A contemporary theology of God is developed.

Class Texts

Class Assignments

Each member of the seminar will be expected to participate meaningfully in each session in the seminar. It is crucial that every member of the seminar read the assigned readings or papers for that date. Because of the reading schedule, seminar members should begin reading the text as soon as possible. Each member of the seminar will be assigned to lead the seminar discussion on several occasions, as delineated in the assignments below. Some changes will have to be made if the seminar enrollment changes.
Text Discussion – During the first section of the seminar, all the seminar members will be discussing the class text readings. Each week, seminar members will guide the class in a discussion of assigned portions of the text. The student facilitator assigned to lead the discussion should prepare a one-page summary of the chapter(s) and a one-page list of questions and comments addressed to the chapter, or pose a case study to apply the ideas being presented. Each student will lead the seminar discussion on assigned chapter(s) in the text. Assignments will be made quickly to facilitate students having plenty of time to prepare for these assignments. Students should express an awareness of the theological and ecclesiological background of the authors being read.

Research Papers will be written by each seminar member. They should be between 15 and 20 double-spaced pages (Times New Roman 12, 1 inch margins) with footnotes and bibliography in proper Turabian/Chicago Manual style. Research papers should focus upon a particular argument or position held by a theologian/philosopher related to the topic addressed in the seminar. Research papers are not to be merely historical surveys but rather should consist of critical analysis and response to a particular issue, argument, etc. from a particular author. Articles should thus resemble journal articles rather than articles found in theological dictionaries or historical or biblical treatments of the topic. Research papers should be handed out or posted on Blackboard a week before they are to be presented to and discussed by the seminar. Each seminar member is expected to have read each of the papers before the class in which it is presented. Papers should be written cleanly, without errors of style and form, in such a way that with minor alterations they can be published in a professional journal or presented at a professional meeting.

Formal Responses – Each student will be assigned to write a formal response of 3-4 pages to a research paper. Responses should demonstrate an understanding of the paper and highlight both strengths and weaknesses of the paper. Responses are to be both critical and charitable. They should help the paper writer to improve his paper upon revision. Each response will also include an errata section citing errors or suggested improvements in form and style.

Suggested Topics for Research Papers

- Atemporalism/God’s Timelessness (Paul Helm)
- Temporalism and Mediating Views on God and Time (see God and Time: Four Views)
- Omnipresence
- A Model of Divine Transcendence and Immanence
- A Determinist Image of God (Paul Helm)
- A Simple Foreknowledge, Comprehensive Foreknowledge, or Middle Knowledge Views of God (see Basinger and Rice books in bibliography)
- A Comparison of the Molinism of Bruce Ware and Ken Keathley
- The Molinism of William Lane Craig
- Models of Divine Providence in Terrance Tiessen’s Providence and Prayer
- An Openness View of God
- Divine Simplicity
- Omnipotence
- Is God Immutable?
