NOBTS MISSION STATEMENT:
The mission of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and Leavell College is to prepare students to walk with Christ, proclaim His truth, and fulfill His mission.

COURSE PURPOSE, CORE VALUE FOCUS, AND CURRICULUM COMPETENCIES:
New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary has five core values: Doctrinal Integrity, Spiritual Vitality, Mission Focus, Characteristic Excellence, and Servant Leadership. These values shape both the context and manner in which all curricula are taught, with “doctrinal integrity” and “academic excellence” especially highlighted in this course. The seminary is emphasizing the core value of Mission Focus this year and encourages all to focus especially on this emphasis.

NOBTS also has seven basic competencies that guide our Masters degree programs: Biblical Exposition, Christian Theological Heritage, Disciple Making, Interpersonal Skills, Servant Leadership, Spiritual and Character Formation, and Worship Leadership. This course especially addresses the “Biblical Exposition” competency by means of helping the student learn to interpret the Bible accurately.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:
A study is made of paleography, the ancient witnesses to the text of the New Testament, the history of the handwritten text of the New Testament, and the actual practice of textual criticism. In connection with the last of these subjects, students learn to read the critical apparatuses of the Nestle-Aland and the United Bible Societies editions of the Greek New Testament and to evaluate significant variant readings.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:
The student learning outcomes of this course include the following:
1. Students should understand the history and state of research for the field of NT TC
2. Students should gain an increased appreciation for how TC aids in the study of the NT
3. Students should acquire the ability to utilize the textual apparatus in the Greek New Testament (UBS and N-A) and apply this ability to sound interpretation of the text

COURSE TEACHING METHODS:
This course will be taught via a combination of pedagogical methods, including but not limited to the following: lectures, student assignments, small group work, computer resources, textbook reviews, and student presentations in class. Both inductive and deductive approaches to learning NT TC will be utilized.
TEXTBOOKS:
4. Bruce M. Metzger, A Textual Commentary on the GNT, 4th UBS ed. (or the edition by Roger Omanson)

REQUIREMENTS IN THE COURSE:
1. Class participation and readings. Complete the assigned readings according to the schedule. Quizzes may be given over the material periodically. (10%)
2. Transcribe a portion of the NT from a NT Greek manuscript. The results will be evaluated and then discussed in class. Due Nov. 2 at the beginning of class with discussion on the results and implications that day. (15%)
3. An analysis of two textual variants will be made by each student with the results presented in class on the day for which the variant is listed. The presentation (normally a PPT or Keynote presentation) should include an overview of the issues involved and manuscript information for the variant, the analysis of the textual data, an analysis of the internal considerations, reflections from some relevant critical commentaries, and a conclusion regarding the variant’s authenticity and likely origin. A copy of the presentation is to be submitted to the professor on the day assigned for the variant. All students are to look over the variants that are assigned for each day of that portion of the course, including reading the information in at least one of the textual commentaries. (25%)
4. A sectional exam and a final exam will be given. Each exam will cover only the material covered in that part of the course. (25% each exam)
5. EXTRA CREDIT: Additional readings in the area of NT TC approved by the professor will be credited at the rate of 1 point on the final average for each 150 pages read, up to a maximum of 3 points. A brief (1 page per 150 pages of readings) report must be submitted for credit. These must be submitted by the time of the final exam.

NOLA2U Live students: If you are taking this course as a NOLA2U Live student, please note the following attendance policies:
1. The course on the New Orleans campus will be connected synchronously via Web conferencing with Internet students. These courses will require weekly attendance at the stated class meeting times.
2. Students are only allowed to miss the amount of class time specified in the NOBTS attendance policy as stated in the graduate catalog. (See page 184 in the graduate catalog: https://www.nobts.edu/_resources/pdf/academics/GraduateCatalog.pdf).
