MISSION STATEMENT

New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and Leavell College prepare servants to walk with Christ, proclaim His truth, and fulfill His mission.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is designed to introduce students to Christian counseling and basic counseling skills for those in various ministry settings. Biblically-based foundations and approaches to counseling will be examined. In addition, the class will address skill development and application and will examine counseling issues such as marital and family relationship problems, depression and anxiety, anger, forgiveness and reconciliation, trauma, grief and crisis, substance abuse problems, and spiritual issues.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

In order to perform counseling effectively with the knowledge and skills necessary, students, by the end of the course, should:

1. Be able to understand the basic foundations and dimensions of biblically-based Christian counseling, including theological, pastoral, historical, scientific, and psychological elements and counseling models.
2. Be able to apply a biblically-based knowledge of pastoral care and counseling to the difficulties commonly faced by church members and their families.
3. Be able to communicate effectively using basic counseling skills.
4. Be able to evaluate personal limits in counseling and to know how and when to make appropriate referrals and develop strategies for personal wellness and self-care.
5. Develop a local referral and consultation network.

TEACHING METHODS

This course meets online in an asynchronous format on a weekly schedule. Each week you will be asked to interact with different types of materials, including lecture notes, PowerPoint presentations, video lectures, class texts, exercises or practical activities, and responses from other students.

THE EMBEDDED ASSIGNMENT

This course will be assessed for quality and improvement through the use of an embedded assignment. The research paper, required to be completed by all students for all sections of this course, will serve as the basis for this assessment. The rubric for grading the paper is in the course requirements section below.

REQUIRED TEXTBOOKS

The Bible—your preferred translation

Collins, G. (2007). Christian Counseling 3rd Edition: Revised and Updated (3rd ed.). Thomas Nelson. ISBN-13: 9781418503291

Jones, I. F. (2006). The Counsel of Heaven on Earth: Foundations for Biblical Christian Counseling. B&H Academic. ISBN-13: 9780805443431

Stanley, S. M., Trathen, D., McCain, S., & Bryan, M. B. (2014). A Lasting Promise: The Christian Guide to Fighting for Your Marriage (New and Revised ed.). Jossey-Bass. ISBN: 9781118672921

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Book Review:

Students will write a book review of not less than five pages, excluding cover sheet, of the book The Counsel of Heaven on Earth by Ian F. Jones. The review will be double spaced, in accordance Turabian style. The book review should include (1) a brief summary of content, (2) an evaluation of the strengths and limitations of the work, and (3) its applicability to Christian ministry and counseling (identify the most appropriate audience for the book and whether you would recommend it). See rubric for details. Submit the review on Canvas. See the rubric at the end of the syllabus.

Counseling Dialogs (2):

Two counseling dialogs that deal with a problem or issue will be prepared from conversations with people that may be formal (planned) or informal. Care should be taken to protect the identity of the person(s) and informed consent should be given before the conversation is recorded or reported in writing. Dialogs should be submitted through Canvas and include the following:

1. Introduction: Introductory paragraph identifying the counselee (fictitious name to insure confidentiality). Include a detailed description identifying age, sex, marital status, significant family members and contacts, personal appearance (facial, physical, emotional demeanor), and other pertinent information.
2. Dialog Samples: Actual counseling dialogue using the following symbols:
R = counselor; E = Counselee
The samples should be substantive and demonstrate use of the counseling skills covered in class.
3. Evaluation: A summary section with conclusions drawn from the dialog as well as any follow-up plans. The summary must include a personal evaluation of the session (skills demonstrated, your strengths, limitations, and areas of opportunities), along with a spiritual assessment identifying pertinent biblical principles and areas you believe that God is working in the situation.

NOTE: To aid in the reporting of the dialog, the counselor may use a recording device with the permission of the counselee. Counselors should immediately erase the recording after transcribing the session—assuring the confidentiality (protection) of the counselee.

Interviews (2):

Two interviews will be conducted and reported in the same format as the counseling dialogs. These interviews will be conducted with two specific types of potential counselee: a married person or couple and an ethnic minority or a person from a culture different than the student. Students will practice counseling skills and techniques as learned in class.

Referral and Resource Guide

Students will produce a resource guide focused on services, professionals, and other resources available to them in their geographical area of ministry. This can be the student's current place of residence or, if the student knows of a place where they will serve in the future, the guide can reflect resources in that area. The guide should include listings of services, names and contact information of providers, a description of the services available, target audience for this service, and ways the minister can be involved in the provision of the service where applicable.

The student may also email the course grader or instructor with questions regarding grading.

Help for Writing Papers at the NOBTS Writing Center

This is the official NOBTS Writing Center online help site for writing academic papers and essays: <http://www.nobts.edu/writing/default.html> You will discover writing guides, tips, and valuable information to help you become a better writer. Go here for Turabian and APA style helps and guidelines. You will also find language fonts for Greek and Hebrew.

The NOBTS Style Guide is the official style guide for all seminary papers (unless the course specifies a different form and style, such as APA or SBL) and can be found in the course Canvas shell or online at the Writing Center's page on the seminary website at:

<https://www.nobts.edu/resources/pdf/writing/StyleGuide.pdf>

Academic Honesty Policy

All graduate and undergraduate NOBTS students, whether on-campus, internet, or extension center students, are expected to adhere to the highest Christian standard of honesty and integrity when completing academic assignments for all courses in every delivery system format. The Bible provides our standard for academic integrity and honesty. This standard applies whether a student is taking tests, quizzes, exams, writing papers, completing Discussion Boards, or any other course requirement.

Plagiarism on Written Assignments

NOBTS has a no tolerance policy for plagiarism. Please be aware that plagiarism in certain cases may result in expulsion from the seminary. Refer to the NOBTS Student Handbook http://www.nobts.edu/_resources/pdf/student-services/NOBTSHandbook.pdf where the definition, penalties and policies associated with plagiarism are clearly defined.

Extra Credit

Extra credit is not offered in this course. Students with hardships, emergencies, or other situations impacting academic performance are encouraged to contact the professor as soon as possible to explore options appropriate to their specific situations.

Netiquette

Netiquette refers to appropriate online behavior in Canvas or other online discussions. Each student is expected to demonstrate appropriate Christian behavior when working online on Discussion Boards or whenever interaction occurs through web, digital, or other electronic medium. The student is expected to interact with other students in a fashion that will promote learning and respect for the opinions of others in the course. A spirit of Christian charity is always expected in the online environment.

Academic Policies

Academic policies relate to absences, grading scale, final examination schedules, and other topics can be found in the current online catalog: New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary Academic Catalog.

Online Course Reminder/Warning

Online courses are, by nature, a different kind of learning experience than courses taught in the traditional classroom. Because of this structure, this online course is more reading and writing intensive than traditional classroom courses. Rigorous study of the deep things of God can be a rewarding experience for anyone who participates in it, but it also calls for extra diligence and integrity in completing the work. This reality does not mean that an online course cannot be successful in equipping you, the student, for effective, God-honoring ministry. It simply means utilizing a different strategy. Internet courses allow room for independent learners to thrive—to work at a responsible pace, to engage in student-led discussions, and to take ownership of the learning of course content. Note that your instructors are praying for your success.

Policy for Graduating Students

Graduating students are responsible for alerting the professor of your intention to graduate. All of your assignments must be completed by noon (12:00 PM) on the Wednesday prior to commencement exercises.
