Anthony Daw (left), with 2nd place winner Greg Lamb of SEBTS

Anthony Daw (biblical interpretation) is the winner of the 2019 student paper competition of the southwest region of the Evangelical Theological Society! Anthony's paper, "Covenant and Community: A New Proposal for Understanding the Relationship between Achan and Israel in Joshua 7," garnered the $100 first-place prize.

Congratulations, Anthony!

Wabash Teaching Seminar

Congratulations to Fabio Castellanos (New Testament) and Christina Sebastian (Christian education) for being chosen to participate in the March 8-9 Wabash Teaching Seminar for Doctoral Students in San Francisco! This award includes accommodations, meals, and a $500 stipend.

Fabio enjoyed dialoging with students from Claremont, Fuller, Illiff, and other institutions as they considered their identity as professors; syllabus design; and the importance of maintaining wholeness by balancing spiritual life, family life, and health.

Christina appreciated being familiar with the books discussed and well prepared for the tasks of creating SLOs and course design whereas many from prestigious schools had no experience in these teaching skills. Great job, CE faculty, for the professional foundation you lay for our future professors!

Applications for spring 2020 sessions are due by September 23.

Mercersburg Society Roth Prize

According to Anne T. Thayer, Diefenderfer Professor of Mercersburg and Ecumenical Theology and Church History at Lancaster Theological Seminary in Lancaster, PA, “Mercersburg Theology developed in the German Reformed Church in the mid-19th century under the leadership of John Williamson Nevin and Philip Schaff. They took the incarnation as their theological starting point and went on to stress the importance of the universal Church as the body of Christ organically developing through history. . . . Students taking courses in Theology, Church History, American Christianity, or Worship might well find the Mercersburg tradition a fruitful topic for in-depth study.”
